Work-from-Home Solutions for your VoIP Business

Meet the Needs of your Business Customers with Work-from-Home Employees

Telinta offers a full suite of white label solutions that quickly enable you to sell brandable VoIP services tailored for Work-from-Home employees. With Telinta, you can help your business customers of any size to meet their communications needs whether in the office, at home, or on the road.

At the center of this is Telinta's award-winning Virtual Office solution, enabling your users to quickly route or re-route calls anywhere they need, with or without IP phones, and without needing installer visits. Your users can sign up online, select their own phone numbers, add toll-free numbers, set up PBX extensions, configure auto-attendants, voicemail, and music on hold. They can even send and receive faxes, host conference calls, and more. You and your resellers can offer VoIP calling from virtually any compatible device – IP and Analog phones, mobile phones, Windows and Mac computers.
